Emmet-PreScott Road and Fulton Gaps to Get Paving

Approval for Federal Aid Projects Is Given

BRIDGE JOBS LET

Arkansas' Allotment Under Highway Program Is $6,700,000

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — The state highway commission Friday awarded two contracts for bridges, amounting to more than $200,000 and at the same time came the announcement that all Arkansas projects in the federal aid system coming under the national recovery highway program, had been approved.

Paving of gaps near Fulton on Highway No. 67 between Hope and Texarkana, and the paving of approximately seven miles of road between Emmet and Prescott were included by the United States Bureau of Public Roads in approving state federal aid highway projects.

Contract for construction of a new bridge over the Black river at Poca-hontsa, was awarded to the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel company, Des Moines, Iowa, on a low bid of $176,233.17 and Fred Lattorjohann, Topeka, Kan., received the contract for construction of a bridge at Horseshoe creek, near Hartmann, with a bid of $45,016.45.

At the same time, the commission awarded one of the last contracts scheduled under the emergency relief highway program, that of constructing two miles of concrete on the "Wynne gap" connecting Wynne with highway 64. Grady Garmes, Little Rock, received this contract with a bid of $58,006.11.

C. E. Swain, district engineer for the bureau of public roads, with headquarters at Fort Worth, Texas, and J. M. Page, engineer for the Little Rock office of the bureau, met with the commission.

Arkansas' allotment under the public works program, for highway construction, was $6,700,000 and it was stipulated that 50 per cent of this amount must be spent on state federal aid highways, 25 per cent on feeder roads into the highways and 25 per cent on continuations of highways through cities.

Member of the commission said that they have submitted to federal authorities the proposed projects for feeder and continuation roads, and it is hoped approval may be obtained on these when the highway commission meets September 22.

When the remaining 50 per cent of the projects have been approved, it was said, Arkansas' program will include projects for 72 counties, to extend over two years. The remaining three counties now have projects under construction to relieve unemployment, it was said.

Roy L. Spence, secretary of the commission, said that the commission will be ready to advertise for bids on several other public works projects by September 22, and that the commission planned to launch the NRA program as rapidly as possible.

Several important sections of construction are included in the program, and the commissioners have attempted to complete gaps in all main highways. One of the projects will be the paving of the last major remaining gap in highway No. 70 between Little Rock and Memphis, which is 4.1 miles of concrete east of the DeWalls Bluff bridge. When this work has been done and contracts already let completed, there will remain unpaved between Little Rock and Memphis only a short stretch of gravel at the west approach of the DeWalls Bluff bridge, and about two miles of gravel roadway near Widener.

Rev. Jeffers' Faction Elects Its Own Pastor

JONESBORO — (AP) — The controversy raging around the pulp of the Jonesboro Baptist tabernacle here was complicated further by the election of Deacon Joe Sharp as pastor by the Rev. Joe Jeffers faction of the congregation.

Now court action was foreseen, possibly in the form of a petition for a restraining order to prevent the Rev. Dale S. Crowley from interfering. Crowley was declared the legal pastor in a Chancery Court order filed last Saturday, but he has made no move to take over the pulpit. The Jeffers faction has been in control of the tabernacle for several days, with Sharp as the leader.

Leaders of this faction said that the election of Sharp was legal. Jeffers left a few days ago for Miami, Fla. He was enjoined by the Crowley faction from entering the tabernacle.

To the eyes of a native American it had a strange, foreign appearance. It bore the name of "Samostatnost," it was printed in an incomprehensible tongue, and it seemed to be just the sort of publication that sometimes makes a 100-per cent wonder if the national melting pot is ever going to Americanize our foreign-born citizens. But the editorial page proudly bore a large NRA eagle; and under it, in English, there was a double-column editorial which summed up the aims and policies of the NRA program as well as the most devout patriot could wish.

X X X
In it the editor undertakes to tell American Slovaks what they can do to make the program a success. His remarks are worth quoting. "First," he says, "Franklin D. Roosevelt is set to re-establish a truly fair balance again between American employer and American employee, but it stands to reason that such tremendous readjustment cannot be done overnight. Therefore, let us give him our faith and confidence that in due process he will do so, and our understanding that it must be done gradually."

"Second, the least we can give to a daring fighter, like our president, is our confidence and trust that he will win, and what he helps us to gain, let us throw it back into circulation, that more and more of the little fellows, like we are, shall have a chance to earn and spend again and in so doing this nation might go full speed ahead, in full production and in full consumption."

"So we print today in our masthead the sacred insignia of the NRA."

X X X
If our foreign-language newspapers are printing advice of that kind, the 100-per cent can stop worrying right now. You might be able to smooth out the wording of that editorial a little, but you couldn't improve on the general spirit of it if you tried all week.

One bit of news which has gone almost unnoticed in the past few weeks is the fact that Chicago seems at last to be making a determined effort to get her notorious underworld under control.

During a three-week period ending August 26, minor criminals were sentenced to prison in Chicago, than in any similar period in Chicago's history. It took the courts just one day to convict the murderer of a policeman and sentence him to death. All in all, 207 thugs were sent off to prison.

It would be easy to get too enthusiastic about this, of course. Neither Chicago nor any other American city will permanently solve its underworld problem until it tackles such problems as poverty, poor housing and political corruption which created the underworld in the first place. But it is at least encouraging to note that Chicago is at last handling her criminals without gloves.

X X X
A code of ethics has been drawn up for the brewers of the country; and it contains a few paragraphs that make interesting reading.

One provides that brewers will not directly or indirectly sell beer to unlicensed outlets or to people who are in any way evading local, state or national laws, governing the retailing of beer.

Another provides that no officer or director of a brewery may have any connection, either as partner, officer or stockholder, in a place engaged in the retailing of beer.

Here are two exceedingly sensible provisions. If the brewers had adhered to them strictly in the days before 1920, there would have been less reason for the experiment with a national prohibition law.

Cotton Statistics Job Goes to W. H. Etter

Pope Is Speaker Rotary Meet Here

Local Organization to Be Host to Nine District Clubs September 21

Arthur D. Pope of El Dorado, Rotary governor of district No. 62, made an official visit to the Hope club at its regular meeting Friday noon at Barlow hotel.

In an address before the club Mr. Pope said "Rotary all over the world is going forward, showing a substantial increase in the number of clubs and in club memberships."

He complimented the local club in sponsoring a new troupe of Boy Scouts, stressing the club's objective of working with the young men of tomorrow. He stressed the importance of a joint meeting of No. 62 and 16 district clubs, to meet in May of next year, and of the international meeting to be held in Detroit next summer.

The Hope club will be host to nine southwest Arkansas Rotary clubs at a chicken barbecue Thursday night, September 21 at the Fair park.

Charles Evans of Little Rock has been designated as the principal speaker for the occasion. Cartell Robins of Stuttgart will head a delegation from that city. Other clubs expected to attend are: Stamps, Texarkana, Ashdown, DeQueen, Nashville, Prescott, Gurdon and Arkadelphia.

Dr. J. M. Holt, of Nashville, Dead at 55

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Dr. J. M. Holt, aged 55, died at his home here Thursday night. He was a well known physician, having practiced here 28 years. He is survived by his wife; two sons, Hansford and Paul Holt; two daughters, Mary Alice and Minnie Bell Holt, all of Nashville; four brothers, Roy and Gus Holt of Tokio and Earl and Ferd Holt of Bingen; and three sisters, Mrs. Lilla Bryant of Nashville, Mrs. Hope Ross and Mrs. Addie Martindale of Bingen.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church here Friday morning by the Rev. Robert E. Taylor, assisted by the Rev. T. L. Epton and the Rev. J. F. Simmons. Burial was at Bingen.

U.S. Orders Sale of Impounded Cotton to Clear Up Loans

Farmers Told to Liquidate Crop Seed Loan Debts

GIVEN UNTIL SEPT. 20

Hempstead County Planters Are Affected by New Ruling

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Karl M. Blanchard, regional manager of the Crop Production Loan Office Friday sent letters instructing farmers who are holding cotton as collateral for seed or cotton production loans for 1932 and all prior seasons to sell it and thus liquidate their loans.

If prior to September 20, 1933, you desire yourself to sell the cotton now held as collateral for your loan, you may take one of the following steps:

1. If your cotton is not being handled by a cotton co-operative marketing association, notify the seed and crop production loan office of your district that you desire to have your cotton sold immediately, which will be done and your account credited in accordance with the procedure set out below.

2. If your cotton is being handled by a cotton co-operative marketing association, notify such association that you desire your cotton to be sold immediately, which will be done and your account credited in accordance with the procedure set out below.

On the other hand, if you fail your self to sell this cotton prior to September 20, 1933, we shall offer it for sale at any future date in accordance with the terms of the power of sale contained in the applications for 1933 loans or in any other agreements or any power of sale conferred by law and shall take necessary steps to secure title to cotton on which authority has not been given to us to sell.

Applied To Credit

Whether the cotton is sold by your authority or by the authority of the Farm Credit Administration, the proceeds will be applied to the liquidation, so far as possible, of your indebtedness as follows:

1. If any residue remains after the application of the proceeds of sale to the full liquidation of your indebtedness and all costs of storage, insurance, brokerage and other charges in connection with this cotton, it will be remitted to you.

2. If your loan was fully collateralized at the time of collateralization, upon sale your note will be canceled and paid in full and will be canceled and the mortgage covering this cotton collateral will be released. If your loan was not fully collateralized, or not collateralized at all, then of course any unpaid balance will remain outstanding after the application of the net sales proceeds or the collateral value, if any, whichever is high, to the reduction of the loan.

In order to insure prompt action and orderly marketing, the warehouse receipts covering your cotton will be held either by the Crop Production Loan Office for your district or by a cotton co-operative marketing association, when such association is handling the cotton. In neither case will it be possible from the date of this letter for you to obtain warehouse receipts covering your cotton if you have given the Farm Credit Administration the power of sale covering this cotton in the borrowers application for 1933 loans or in any other agreement or any power of sale is conferred by law.

Huge Melon Grown Near Texarkana

183-Pounder May Be Taken to World's Fair at Chicago

TEARKANA—Texas' exhibit at A Century of Progress Exposition may include a 183 pound watermelon grown by H. O. Kennedy four and a half miles southeast of Atlanta.

The melon, believed the largest ever grown in the United States, was displayed here Friday by Kennedy. It eclipses the champions of Arkansas Watermelon Festivals at Hope; and is more than 10 pounds heavier than a so called "record" fruit recently heralded in Oklahoma.

The huge melon occupied most of the rear seat of Kennedy's automobile. He interested M. E. Melton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in aiding the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in fostering a display of the monster at Chicago.

The weight was attested in an affidavit by officials of the Four State Grower company. Kennedy for a number of years has been raising big melons on part of his nine acre patch. His best previous effort has been around 162 pounds. Even he was surprised at the spurt taken by the 1933 jumbo.

It is of the "Triumph" variety, planted about mid-April, and nurtured with heavy barnyard fertilization, together with nitrate of potash. It has been kept in straw, moistened at intervals, but without special irrigation. Kennedy weighs 116 pounds himself, but his melon would outbalance him on any scales.

Squirrel Season Opens In Arkansas October 1

The fall squirrel season in all counties in Arkansas will open October 1 and will close January 1. Guy Amser, secretary of the state Game and Fish Commission, said Friday, Mr. Amser said that he had received many inquiries concerning the season. The law fixing it was enacted by the 1927 legislature. A subsequent law changing the length of the season in several counties has been declared unconstitutional, he said. Eight squirrels may be killed in one day.

The dove season opened September 1 and will continue through December 15, with a bag limit of 18 per day, he said.

Revival Starts Sunday at Church of Christ

The Rev. J. N. Armstrong, president of Harding college at Morillon, will begin a two-weeks revival meeting at the Church of Christ here, starting Sunday night.

Services will begin each night at 7:45 o'clock. Song services will be conducted by local talent. The public is invited.

The Rev. John G. Reese, pastor of the church, will bring a 10-day revival meeting to a close at McCaskill Saturday night. He said that large crowds had attended the revival campaign.

According to the government of British India, 24,000 persons were killed by wild animals there in 1927; snakebite was responsible for the deaths of 19,069.

Install Officers at Legion Meeting

Outpost Meetings to Be Resumed—Will Conduct Memorial Drive

Resumption of outpost meetings, installation of officers and naming of appointive officers featured the first meeting of the local American Legion post, held at the city hall Thursday night. Outpost meetings are to be held on the third Thursday night in each month, starting September 21, at held at the former.

Washington. This meeting will be held at the former Arkansas state capitol building there. Ched Hall, retiring post commander, installed the following officers: Dewey Hendrix, commander; W. M. Ramsey and B. C. Hollis, first and second vice commanders; Robert Wilson, service officer; and Henry Boyett, finance officer.

Mr. Hendrix named the following appointive officers: Chas. Taylor, sergeant-at-arms; Bob Walker and B. L. Wellborn, color bearers; Ched Hall, child welfare work officer; and Lyle Webb, post adjutant.

Mr. Hendrix appointed the executive board as follows: Ched Hall, J. L. Stringer, B. R. Hamm, Carter Johnson, Dr. A. J. Neighbors, W. M. Ramsey, B. C. Hollis, Henry Boyett, Lyle Webb and Robert Wilson.

Outpost commanders were named as follows: Mack Parsons, Washington; "Doc" Stanton, Saratoga; Tom Yocom, Spring Hill; Jerome Drake, Paines; John Slaton, DeAnn; Arthur Wade, Belvis; Sidney Stone, McCaskill; Rush Jones, Ozan; Jim Wilson, Columbus; and Thomas Seymour, Fulton. Two membership committees were named, headed by the two assistant commanders, each to select a committee to conduct a "Bodenhamer Memorial Drive" for members. The losing team is to entertain the winners after the close of the contest, November 11.

Mr. Hendrix urged a year of greater activity than ever before in Legion work in this section. "The Bodenhamer memorial drive should bring us our greatest membership," he said.

Basket Company Operating Under Blue Eagle Banner

Payroll Now in Excess of $3,000 Per Week for 250 Employees

IS HIGHEST SINCE 1931

Minimum Wage Scale Is an Increase of 105 Per Cent for Workers

Minimum weekly wage of $9.20 or 23c an hour for a forty-hour-week was announced for the 250 employees of the Hope Basket factory by G. J. MacGregor, manager, Saturday morning. The total payroll is now in excess of $3,000.00 a week, for the first time since 1931.

Final details for basket workers were worked out Saturday, conforming to the NRA code. This new minimum wage scale is an increase of 105 per cent for all classes of industrial workers at the Hope plant, over the average wage prevailing before signing the code.

The new wages are retroactive from last August 23d. At the time of signing the code August 23, it was announced that it would require several days to work out all details of wage scales, and the number of employees needed to conform to the code. But that the NRA scale would apply from August 23 forward.

Saturday the plant was preparing to pay the new, full schedule for the week ending September 1st. This will be the first time the total payroll has reached $3,000.00 since 1931. Since the firm just received the new schedule Saturday morning, the plant has not yet had time to make out checks for the additional pay coming to employees for the week beginning August 23. These checks will be distributed next week.

Last Saturday there were 238 employees. The number has been increased by 12 this week, and the plant is now operating every department on the minimum of 40 hours required by NRA. Salaried employees did not receive an increase from the NRA membership. The plant is now operating two shifts.

Highest Ever Paid Here
The $9.20 weekly minimum is the highest ever paid by this Hope industry for 40 hours work.

Although the recent destruction of citrus fruit in the Rio Grande valley has removed that section as a market for Hope baskets, the plant has orders which will keep the double shift going full time throughout September and October. These orders are for shippers in several Pacific northwest states, including Colorado and Idaho. It is hoped that additional orders will be secured by November 1st.

Destruction of citrus fruit in the Brownsville sector caused cancellation of one carload of Hope baskets that had already been loaded here. Several plants affiliated in ownership with the Hope Basket company were damaged in the Southeast Texas storm this week. One plant was destroyed, nothing remained but a concrete floor. Other plants were damaged. These losses were fully covered with insurance, Mr. MacGregor said.

County Agent Work Praised by Faver

Frank Stanley Is Mentioned for Post in Hempstead County

"The growing of cotton is breaking Arkansas farmers, and business men, as well," E. M. Faver, an Arkansas river cotton planter and live stock grower of Pulaski county, told the P-i-wants club at its weekly meeting Friday night.

"It is necessary for farmers to succeed," said Faver, "if business men and banking are to succeed. Three years ago I saw I was losing money in growing cotton. My county demonstrator started me into growing something besides cotton. And it has never been more necessary to depend upon other crops than now."

"Like all farmers," Faver stated, "I farm with my muscles, and not with my head." In urging the Kiwanis club, and all business men to get their farmers to demand a county demonstration agent for Hempstead county. "I told our judge he had better abandon the county court than the county agent, in these times. My county agent has done enough for me by getting me interested in stock raising these last three years to have earned his salary in full. It bled my heart to see such farmers at the pasture demonstration station here Friday afternoon." If business men can't get farmers out to such events they

Movies In Schools Is New Idea

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Rally around, kids! How would you like to see a movie during school hours? Boy, oh boy, wouldn't that be something!

Well, it's not at all impossible—even though it does sound too good to be true. In fact, it is exactly what will happen if Jesse L. Lasky, veteran film producer, can have his way for a while.

Hollywood's immense film value are filled with millions of dollars worth of pictures, pictures which have absolutely no further value to the studios. They are the old films which once were box office smashes, that once launched many of the screen faces now so familiar.

No Box Office Value
These pictures have seen their day. They are beyond resurrection, wouldn't draw a dime at the box office today, they simply lie in the vaults eating up thousands of dollars in insurance money every year. Producers guard them jealously because they don't know what else to do with them.

Lasky would turn them over to the schools—give the whole bunch to various boards of education for use in instructing school children in history, geography and other subjects dealt with at one time or another by the film industry.

"My plan would not bring a cent of profit to the producers," Lasky declares. "It simply would provide a means for turning over to schools such old films as have educational merits—pictures which dramatize the customs of people and which deal with authentic historical and geographical facts. They could be shown in school auditoriums in place of rather boring lecture periods, or in the classrooms for that matter, and be of immeasurable service in the instruction of the young."

Opportunities in Geography

Imagine geography students learning about the South Pole from seeing "With Byrd at the South Pole." Why, they would learn more in the hour and a half it takes to watch that picture than they would in two months of pouring over textbooks.

When Africa was being studied, "Trader Horn" or "Bring 'Em Back Alive" could be shown. The children really would learn something and they would enjoy learning for a change.

Any number of old pictures would be of infinite value in teaching history. Think what could be learned about American history from such pictures as "Old Ironsides," "The Rough Riders," "The Covered Wagon," "Cimarron," "Abraham Lincoln," "America," "The Birth of a Nation." All of these films are based on actual historical events. All are authentic—dramatized sufficiently to be entertaining but still containing plenty of historical information.

New Films Used

For some years motion pictures have been discussed as a medium of education but so far little has been accomplished in this direction. A few very good films of difficult surgical operations have proven invaluable in instructing young medical students. But that is about as far as the educational value of pictures has been carried.

In addition to the historical and geographical benefits mentioned above, motion pictures could be utilized in English classes. Any English student could derive great benefit from studying the diction of a few great artists such as George Arliss.

And old newsreels, on which have been recorded the important events and customs of the world for the last 20 years, would prove tremendously valuable in all fields of learning.

Belief Grows Ford To Join NRA Move

Manufacturer Expected to Return This Week From Vacation

DEROTIT—(AP)—The utter absence of any outward indications of concern among Ford Motor company executives over the NRA controversy is adding strength to a growing belief that some kind of an agreement is expected to bring Henry Ford under the blue eagle's banner.

There was, however, no hint or a formal announcement of policy, and no certainty that one would be forthcoming when Ford returns, probably the last of the week, from his Huron mountain camp where he has remained secluded for three weeks.

Edsel Ford, president of the company, already was back from his vacation spent at Seal Harbor, Me., but his return developed nothing to clarify the situation.

To adopt the national automobile code and qualify for a blue eagle, the Ford Motor company presumably would be expected to reduce its working hours from 40 to 35; enter its traditional stand against collective bargaining by employees, and consent to some degree of supervision by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, administrative agent of the code. The latter is a sticking point, for in line with its policy of absolute independence, the Ford company is not a member of the N. A. C. C.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

The Story of Jonathan

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for September 10.

The golden text of this lesson in Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times," is very appropriate, and expresses the very heart of the lesson.

Jonathan stands in history as one of the greatest types of loyal friends.
A friendship, of course, is mutual,
and we cannot think of Jonathan without including David; but David had many reasons for distinction, whereas the outstanding place that Jonathan has in Scripture and history is because of his distinctive quality of loyalty and friendship.

Jonathan's case is remarkable as Jonathan was the son of the man,
King Saul, who had become David's chief enemy. Perhaps Jonathan felt as intensely as any man that he was betraying his father's wrong attitude. He realized how little occasion for jealousy David had given Saul, and he found in David a spirit akin to his own. It is not every man who can dissociate himself from his environment, choosing his friends without prejudice and proving loyal to them without regard to outward incidents.

We have suggested in a former lesson that Saul's attitude toward David was possibly that of a man whose mind was deranged. Allowing temptations of jealousy to gain hold upon him may have helped to occasion that derangement, but it would seem that Saul was the victim of dark and terrible moods, which were so foreign to his normal and better nature that we see the real man in the intervals when he displayed a kinder and more generous spirit.

In our lesson, David is compelled to hide from the menacing jealousy of Saul while Jonathan is the messenger to signal to David whether he may expect safety or danger from Saul.
He does this by shooting arrows which he sends a young lad to gather.

The incident can be understood only as one reads the whole story.
There was no safety for David at the court of Saul his friend, frankly told him so. When Jonathan dismissed the lad with the arrows the way was clear for a meeting between him and David, but it was a meeting at which they were to part.

It is instructive to note that Jonathan's friendship and loyalty were proved alike in adversity and in ascendency. Jonathan probably did not realize at the time what was to be the future greatness of David as king of Israel, but the advancement of his friend had no effect upon his loyalty and devotion.

One should note, also, that the friendship between these men was upon a high plane. We are told that Jonathan and David made a covenant
"because he loved him as his own

Claudette Colbert's recent ultimatum in Hollywood anent her ability to portray wicked women better than heroines of saccharine flavors bears lucious fruit in her latest picture,
"Torch Singer" showing Sunday and Monday at the Saenger.

As the torrid tangle of cabaret and radio fame, she displays a fiery and dangerous personality and later contrasts this with another and very tender side of her character. By a cunning manipulation of these qualities, La Colbert fits snugly into the personality of Mimi Benton, created by Grace Perkins in her Liberty Magazine story, "Mike."

"Torch Singer" is the drama of a girl who thinks she can revenge herself upon the man who hurt her by hurting others. Deserted, she has a child, which she is forced to give up for adoption. Then is born the Mimi Benton of the night haunts—a woman with little regard for men aside from what they may mean to her in the way of comfort and fame. At a time when she is all but resigned to a life of abandon, the truest memory of her child comes back to her, and then begins her long struggle to true happiness and romance.

Ah, wealth is not always the boon it appears; And poverty lights not such ruinous fires.

As gratified appetites, tastes and desires, Fate curses, when letting us do as we please—stunts a man's soul to be cradled in ease. 'Tis plain sees the conflicts of earth, needs the stress and the strain

Of Misfortune, to bring out its strength in this life—

The Soul's calisthenics are sorrow and strife.

We have life before us; the past, let it sleep;

Its lessons alone are the things we should keep.

Results, not causes, are what we should measure.

We often learn precious truths in our search for pleasure.—W. W. W.

The art display sponsored by Circle No. 3 of the Womens Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church, held on Friday afternoon from two to six o'clock at the Brundage building, proved to be an outstanding event.

Both from a social and beneficial standpoint Mrs. W. M. Cantley as leader of the Circle, together with her assistants, to be congratulated on having gotten together such a number of beautiful and interesting articles.

This vast building with its splendid suitability for such a display as to space, light and natural decorations, had an added beauty in the graceful and attractive arrangement of the exhibits with a foreground of baskets and vases of lovely summer flowers.

Among the beautifully decorated table which was served a most tempting and refreshingly fruit punch. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. K. G. McRae, and were greeted by Mrs. Thomas, Brewster, who distributed the votes, preceding over the tea table, were Mrs. A. P. Hanegan, Mrs. S. S. Greening, and Mrs. J. P. Brundage, other members of the circle presided over the different departments, including the quilts and spreads and afghans; the quilts and spreads, which deserves special mention was in charge of Mrs. R. O. Bridwell and Mrs. Frank Trimble; in this collection was found interesting antiques and heirlooms, and a collection of exquisite articles from China, Japan, Smyrna and the Philippine Islands. Paintings and hand carved articles and handsome hand-made rugs. The quilt and spread section was a line of bewildering beauty as to work and design, making it a very difficult to place ones votes for the prettiest quilt which went to Mrs. Fred White, the prettiest applied quilt went to Mrs. Anna Duffie, the prettiest spread was the property of Mrs. Horace Jewell, the best quilted and oldest quilt was the property of Mrs. J. W. Seacrest, votes for the prettiest silk quilt went to Mrs. L. C. Becker. The prizes included a large angel food cake, a devil's food cake, home cooked and coffee, tea, mayonnaise.

Miljan Has Died a Thousand Deaths—In His Movie Roles

BY DAN THOMAS NEA Service Writer HOLLYWOOD.—Dying to live. For the last eight or 10 years that has been the record hung up by John Miljan. Although one of the most generous persons in the film colony, Miljan happens to have the facial features generally associated with villains. Hence, in his entire screen career he has played in only four pictures in which he wasn't a "heavy."

And in most of his films he has died before the happy last reel has been flashed on the screen.

Miljan's Many Deaths Miljan has died in at least 40 different ways, which would lead one to speculate that when his end does come it will be in a perfectly normal and natural manner.

He has been frozen to death in the snow and ice of the far north. He has been pounded to death by a giant sea bat in southern waters. He has burned to death in a flaming lake of oil. He has been trampled to death by an elephant. He has been torn to pieces by a lion. He has died of sunstroke in the desert. He has died of thirst on a desert island. He has died of a heart attack on a ship. He has been shot by a firing squad. He has committed suicide. He has been killed in train wrecks.

And in between those methods he has died many deaths of a more natural nature. Furthermore he's still telling about them. And he still is getting paid a fancy salary for being willing to face these screen deaths.

They Died In spite of the fact that some 4000 pounds of food was consumed by the band.

All right, I've had enough. Didn't Mean It.

Now we find out that Ronald Colman really didn't mean all those things he said about Samuel Goldwyn after all. At least if he did, he's forgotten about them now.

According to word recently received from Colman by a friend, Ronnie is very apt to be back here this autumn for another picture under the Goldwyn banner. The success of "The Masquerader," just released, may have had some influence upon his decision.

Working Overtime The other night Aline MacMahon arranged a dinner party at her home. At the last minute she was informed by her director that she would have to work straight through the dinner hour and into the evening. The party carried on without her and after dinner decided to visit her at the studio.

But when they arrived on the set not a one recognized their would-be hostess. She was made up for a 30-year-old woman. However, one of the guests who failed to recognize the actress was Clarence Stein—her husband.

That Great Texas Christian Line Is Gone, But Coach Is Unruffled

Coach Francis Schmidt Not Fazed By Loss of Practically Every Regular—Fresh, Eager Talent Ready to Carry On

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer FORT WORTH, Texas.—(P)—Loss of practically every regular after winning six consecutive games for the 1932 Southwest conference football championship has not fazed Coach Francis Schmidt of Texas Christian University.

Schmidt's collection of Royal Purple football carrying players includes only twelve varsity returnees. Some of these will warm the bench. But Schmidt is not in the dumps. He promises another powerful eleven, one that is a pre-season favorite to finish on or near the top.

Schmidt is master of his football system. He knows his players. That alone is a combination difficult to overcome. His foundation will be two of last year's outstanding stars, John Kitchen, quarterback, and Captain Jack Graves, end.

There will be no All-America Johnny Vought at guard this year. There will be no streaking "Red" Oliver in the backfield. Instead there will be a lot of fresh, eager talent ready to carry on where the 1932 Frogs left off with their record of ten victories and one tie, a total of 283 points against 23 for their opponents.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

Planning September meals is an easy task if you use imagination and originality. Each of the delicious fall vegetables tempt us by its own perfection, and fresh vegetables should continue to be stressed through this month and the next.

There are hot days when the appetite lags and nothing tastes so good as a substantial salad. Served with a cream soup, and fresh vegetable and a hearty dessert, a nourishing salad makes an interesting meal.

Halibut Salad

One halibut steak cut about 1 1/2 inches thick, 1 carrot, 1 onion, a bay leaf, 6 peppercorns, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 8 or 10 rad.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Grapes, cereal, nut rolls, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Stuffed egg-plant, croquettes, halibut salad, potato chips, cucumbers baked and served with tartare sauce, peach pudding with foamy sauce, milk, coffee.

ishes, French dressing, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup whipped cream, 4 tablespoons diced cucumber.
Rub fish with salt and lemon juice and simmer in boiling water to which the sliced carrot and sliced onion, bay leaf and peppercorns have been added. Cook until the fish flakes easily. Chill and flake and mix with radishes which have been cut in thin slices. Marinate in French dressing for 1 hour. When ready to serve, arrange on a bed of lettuce and mask with mayonnaise combined with whipped cream and cucumber which has been drained and chilled after dicing.

Stuffed Eggplant

The following rule for stuffed eggplant is sufficient to serve four persons. This dish is particularly inviting on a hot September noon.
One medium sized eggplant, 3 tomatoes, 1/2 cup fine dried bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 cup chopped lobster or shrimp, coarse buttered crumbs.
Boil eggplant until tender. Drain and cut in halves the long way. Remove pulp and add tomatoes peeled and chopped. Add fine dried bread crumbs, butter, salt and pepper and lobster or shrimp. Fill the eggplant shells with this mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown on top.

Our total population includes nearly three million infants under one year of age.

I DON'T WANT THAT BIRD! HOW CAN I EVER TEACH IT SPANISH, FRENCH AND ITALIAN, WHEN IT CAN'T EVEN TALK ENGLISH? ALL IT DOES IS SHRIEK! I WANT MY $12 BACK!

MY WORD

THE BOSS IS OUT NOW, LADY, DELIVERING AN ANT EATER! HM-M-CAN'T FIGURE THIS OUT, LADY—WHY THIS BIRD USED TO EVEN TALK IN HIS SLEEP!—WE KEPT HIM CAGED BECAUSE HE WAS ALWAYS USING THE PHONE!—A PHONOGRAPH COMPANY RENTED HIM, ONE TIME, TO MAKE RECORDS FOR LEARNIN' OTHER PARROTS HOW TO TALK!

COME ON, MAJOR—HAND BACK THE $12.!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

LOOK! WILLIE IS BACK!

BUT HE'S ALONE! WONDER WHAT HE DID WITH HATTIE

WHERE'S HATTIE?

ON A SWELL OCEAN LINER, BOUND FOR EUROPE

ALLEY OOP

GLARROOOOOPA! GUARDS HO! MENACE APPROACHES! STEP ON IT, YOU MUGS! TO ARMS, MEN! TO ARMS!

ROYAL PALACE OF MOO

BUT SWEET LIPS—I MAY NOT RETURN!

I HOPE A DINOSAUR BITES YER HEAD OFF!

I MUST GO TO WAR!

BAW!

WASH TUBBS

BLAZES! YOU MEAN THOSE SKELETONS WERE TWO PROSPECTORS WHO DISCOVERED GOLD?

THEY STRUCK IT RICH, FELLA, AND I'M NOT GUESSING, I KNOW! I KNOW THEIR NAMES. I KNOW THEIR HISTORY.

WHY, MAN, MY DAD EVEN STAKED 'EM. OH, THEY WERE A COUPLE RIP-ROARING TOOTERS, THOSE TWO. HIT TOWN WITH $46,000 WORTH OF DUST AND BLEW THEIR SHARE IN A WEEK.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

FRECKLES PARENTS AND TAGALONG HAVE RETURNED FROM THE WORLD'S FAIR.

POODLE'S MISFORTUNE IS THE BIG TOPIC OF CONVERSATION!

YES, OSSIE AND THE KIDS SAVED HER LIFE—I'LL LEAVE HER AT OSCAR'S HOUSE UNTIL SHE GETS STRONGER!

IMAGINE ANYONE MEAN ENOUGH TO POISON A DOG! TOO BAD WE CAN'T FIND OUT WHO DID IT!

POOR POODLE!!

I'M GOING TO TRY MY BEST TO FIND OUT, POP!!

I ADMIRE YOUR COURAGE, SON, BUT YOUR CHANCES SEEM VERY SLIM!

I KNOW WHAT FRECKLES MEANS BY CLUES, NOW—WAIT'LL HE SEES THIS!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

I KNOW DINNER IS LATE, BUT INSTEAD OF BLABBING ABOUT HOW INEFFICIENT WOMEN ARE, YOU MIGHT SEE HOW EFFICIENT YOU ARE AT SETTING THE TABLE.

WELL, I'LL SHOW YOU! WHERE ARE THE PLATES?

YOU OUGHT TO KNOW, OLD EFFICIENCY—YOU PACKED THEM IN THE LUNCH BASKET, YOURSELF!

WELL, I DON'T SEE THEM—THEY AREN'T HERE—ARE YOU SURE THAT'S WHERE THEY WERE PUT?

THEY AREN'T IN HERE, I TELL YOU.

WELL, NEVER MIND—GET THE SILVER OUT OF THE TRUNK ON THE BACK OF THE CAR—IT'S IN A BUNDLE.

IF THE KNIVES AND FORKS ARE IN THERE, I'LL EAT 'EM!!

I FOUND THE PLATES, RIGHT WHERE I TOLD YOU THEY WERE. AND HERE'S THE SILVER, RIGHT IN FRONT OF YOUR NOSE.

NOW, GO BACK AND SIT DOWN! I'M MUCH MORE EFFICIENT AT DOING THINGS MYSELF THAN AT ANSWERING YOUR QUESTIONS!

WHAT'RE YOU BLUSHIN' ABOUT, HARV? YOU GOT A WONDERFUL FIGGER.

WHY, HARVEY—WID A FORM LIKE THAT—AN' BLUSHIN' WID PEOPLE USIN' EVERY ART KNOWN, TO SHOW OFF THEIR FIGGERS, AN' YOUR CHANCE COMES AN' YOU BLUSH—WHY, HARVEY!

WHY, HARV! I KNOW PEOPLE WHO WOULD GIVE THEIR SCALPS TO HAVE AN ACCIDENT LIKE THAT.

ART.

A Man of Action!

BUT, SURELY—YOU'RE JOXING?

NOPE! I TIED A CHUTE ON 'ER AN' DROPPED 'ER RIGHT IN TH' CAPTAIN'S LAP

I TOLD YOU

BUT, REALLY NOW—ARE YOU SURE SHE'S ALL RIGHT? HOW WILL SHE MANAGE ???

AW, DON'T FRET ABOUT HER! I SLIPPED A ROLL OF BILLS IN 'ER POCKET SHE'LL HAVE TH' TIME OF 'ER LIFE—IT'LL BE GOOD FOR 'ER—AN' FOR US, TOO! SAY, I FEEL BETTER ALREADY

By HAMLIN

SARJUNT, TAKE THE COMPANY!

THREE! FOUR! FIVE! ONE! TWO! THREE!

SIR—THE DETAIL IS NOT CORRECT! THEY'RE NOT ALL PRESENT NOR ACCOUNTED FOR! SQUAD ONE REPORTS ALLEY OOP MISSING!

OKAY, SARG! OOP WAS LOST YESTERDAY IN THE FOREST—PROCEED WITH TH' COMPANY, ON TH' DOUBLE!

By CRANE

AND BELIEVE ME, YOU BOZOS, I'M THRU TEACHING SCHOOL. I'M THRU BEING POOR. I'M GOING OUTA HERE SO DISGUSTINGLY RICH BY SPRING THAT I WON'T EVEN SPEAK TO YOU.

ATTAGIRL! H'RAY!

By BLOSSER

I GOT YOUR CLUE, FRECKLES!! I GOT IT! RIGHT HERE IN THIS PACKAGE!

GOOD! OPEN IT UP AND LET ME SEE, OSCAR!

WHAT CAN BE THE CLUE THAT OSCAR HAS DISCOVERED?

TO FIND THE PERPETRATOR OF THIS CRIME IS FRECKLES' SOLE THOUGHT!
